

History & Social Science

DIVISION

Brenda King, Ph.D.
Division Chair

The history, psychology, and sociology programs enhance the writing, speaking, critical thinking, and problem solving skills that are adaptable to a wide range of occupational pursuits. We teach a Christian philosophy of history, taking a lineal approach that history has a definite beginning with creation and ends when Christ returns to establish His kingdom upon earth. We teach that God is sovereign, directing the historical process toward the fulfillment of His ends while simultaneously allowing free will to men.

Sociology taught from a Christian worldview seeks to create a better world with higher levels of justice and righteousness in society by providing answers to the problematic concerns raised by modernity. The study of sociology seeks to redress the disconnectedness of modern society through the application of biblical principles to social arrangements.

Psychology contends that, while values and assumptions cloud our perception of reality, careful scientific and biblical scholarship can clear the lens through which we view reality. Psychology offers a useful, albeit limited, perspective regarding human nature but one that nonetheless complements our faith. Integrating psychology and faith calls for a mixture of Christian criticism and Christian application.

The Family Studies major is designed to offer students an in-depth exposure to interpersonal relationships as it relates primarily to the family. Course work is designed to provide a foundation of experience, knowledge and skills taught from a Christian perspective.

The mission of the Social Work Program at Cornerstone University is to prepare students for generalist social work practice within the framework of a Christian worldview. Students will gain social work knowledge and skills to prepare them for entry-level positions in a variety of social service settings. In addition, students will be prepared for graduate level social work education. The Social Work program is accredited by The Council of Social Work Education (CSWE).

SOCIAL WORK MAJOR (Bachelor of Arts)

Students who choose to major in Social Work must make formal application to the Social Work program. Applications should be submitted to the Social Work program director anytime after taking SWK 111 Introduction to Social Work. Students must be admitted to the program before registering for the fall semester of their junior year. Students must meet the following criteria for acceptance into the program:

- Students must have a cumulative grade point average of 2.5 or above.
- Students must earn a 2.5 average or above in social work courses taken.
- Students must complete a written application which includes a statement describing the student’s interests, goals, strengths and weaknesses, and commitment to the profession.
- Three letters of reference must accompany the application. These will include one from a non-relative, a faculty member outside the social work department and at least one from an employment or volunteer experience related to the field.
- Students will attend an interview with one or more members of the social work program admission committee.

Applicants will be notified of their acceptance within four weeks of completion of the application process. Applicants who are not accepted to the program will be advised as to an alternate field of study. Or, students may reapply to the program upon written documentation that previous deficiencies were corrected.

A grievance or appeal to the admissions committee should be made in writing. Students will receive a response to their appeal or grievance within four weeks.

The social work program admissions committee reserves the right to request a student to withdraw from the social work program if academic performance, ethical or professional behavior, or emotional or physical health indicates that the student may not successfully complete the program or jeopardize the well-being of clients served.
